

WHERE EVERYONE WINS

Win-Win-Win Games

FDU is designed as a win-win-win Game; every time a Player uses their Digital Soule all parties participating in FDU win, including:

- 1) The Player;
- 2) Other Interacting Players; and
- 3) Humanitarian, Charitable, Environmental, and faith-based associations.

Through much of history humanity has played win-lose Games with each other, evolution has required us to compete with each other, and with nature. This condition was necessarily structured into the economic models of the previous ages, agricultural to industrial, leading to today.

Now we are entering the Information Age, and we hope the FDU helps you to become ready for the possibly turbulent transition times ahead environmentally, politically, and socially.

The book, the Sovereign Individual, summed it up best; here are some excerpts.

"You are standing on the threshold of the most sweeping revolution in history..."

THE INFORMATION REVOLUTION

The transformation will not only revolutionize the character of the world economy, it will do so more rapidly than any previous phase change.

Unlike the Agricultural Revolution, the Information Revolution will not take millennia to do its work. Unlike the Industrial Revolution, its impact will not be spread over centuries.

The Information Revolution will happen within a lifetime.

The Information Age will be the age of upward mobility. It will afford far more equal opportunity for the billions of humans in parts of the world that never shared fully in the prosperity of industrial society."
